

1. Construct an ER-diagram for the database you construct. Be sure to identify the entities and attributes with meaningful names, as well as the cardinalities of the relationships and whether those relationships are partial or total.

